Message from the Principal

Dear Parents,

What an interesting weekend it has been – from England winning their World Cup match, to our amazingly well-attended Christmas Fair.

For those of you who attended, I'm sure that you will agree with me that the PTA deserve a massive thank you. They organized an enormous event with so many different contributors. At present, they are still totting up the final totals – so watch this space for the final amount.

There has been more worrying news this weekend about the rise in Group A streptococcal (iGAS) disease, known as Strep A. This is a serious medical condition from which several primary-aged children have died. The NHS advice is to keep a close eye on your child if they are unwell and to watch out for any concerning symptoms. You know your child best, so if you are worried, remember to phone your GP or NHS 111 for further advice. The symptoms of invasive Group A Streptococcal disease to look out for include:

- sore throat
- fever (above 38 degrees)
- severe muscle aches
- pain in one area of the body
- vomiting or diarrhoea

The best prevention for any illness is good hygiene and reminding children to wash their hands well before meals and after being outside.

Have a wonderful week,

Erin

Congratulations to Ahaan in Year Two! He has won first place in a worldwide handwriting competition. Below is a sample of his award-winning handwriting; I am sure that you will agree he is very talented (and his handwriting is much neater than mine!)

Christmas Card Competition

Would your child like the chance to have their Christmas card design shared with the whole of the Omnia Trust?

If so, they have until lunchtime on Friday this week to deliver their design to Miss Erin. It should be on A5 paper and should show what Christmas means to them.

I look forward to receiving their designs. The winning 3 designs will be chosen by Miss Erin, Miss Grace, Miss Rachael, Miss Karen, Miss Hana and Miss Lorraine and will be used by Omnia Learning Trust on their Christmas cards.
